LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Have you ever had an accident where you quickly look around to see if anyone saw you? Even before you realize that you might be hurt or might have caused some damage, you want to see if you are going to be embarrassed. Do you think the person that "lost their balance and fell on the canvas of Picasso's "The Actor" painting, creating a 6 inch tear in the corner, looked around quickly to see if anyone saw what had just happened? Or do you think Steve Wynn looked around quickly when he inadvertently poked a thumb-size hole in a Picasso canvas with his elbow, right after he had sold it for $139 million? How do you tell someone what you did? Excuse me, sir, but I just ripped a hole in a Picasso. Say what? We always say we hang at our own risk at all of our venues and so far we have been very lucky that we have not had any accidents but the day may come. Our very capable hanging committee takes every precaution to be careful with our paintings when hanging our shows but Art from the Heart is being held at the College Hill Library and hopefully no one will be looking around quickly when viewing our paintings.

This has always been our premier show and I want to say a big "Thank you" to everyone who is helping out and especially to those of you who are bringing the wonderful refreshments for the reception.

Keep painting!
